

BUILDING LINKS CELEBRATES 25 YEARS!

BUILDING LINKS

CLARICE COTY

On May 17, 1993, Building Links, the North Island's Construction newsletter, published our first issue. Since that time, we have published a newsletter 50 times a year for 25 years reporting on new construction, tenders, building permits and industry news in the areas of Comox, Courtenay, the Comox Valley, Campbell River, Powell River and the North Island. On May 16, 2018, Building Links published our 1,250th newsletter, publishing consecutively weekly issues for 25 years.

Thanks to our team of editors, researchers, technical and office staff, Building Links has become the go-to resource for anyone with an interest in construction, development, commercial and residential projects and more. We produce weekly news on upcoming proposed projects, tenders, building permits, construction and real estate industry news.

"We couldn't do what we do without the planning staff in the municipal offices and the developers, builders, construction managers, engineers, architects, consultants, realtors and others, who take the time each week to give us the information for the projects that we report on," explained Clarice Coty, the founder of Building Links.

"I thank them and the Building Links team, which consists of Pam, Mare, Kenzie, Gillian, Karen and Ted who work together each week to bring you up-to-date news in the construction industry."

Building Links is a weekly subscription newsletter, which 25 years ago was printed and hand delivered! Now, subscribers receive a weekly email, and can follow the latest news on the Building Links blog and on Social Media.

"I am humbled by the longevity and success of Building Links, made possible because of our dedicated team and our valued clients," Coty said. "

Thank you to our team for your loyalty and commitment and thank you to all of our valued subscribers for being such a big part of our success."
